

The Butterflyway Project is a citizen-led movement growing highways of habitat for bees and butterflies across Canada, one butterfly-friendly planting at a time. In 2019 the Town of Caledon was recognized by the David Suzuki Foundation as a Butterflyway community.

"The David Suzuki Foundation would like to congratulate the Alton Village Association for the creation and care of a Butterflyway - a collection of gardens that supports bees and butterflies, beautifies the town, and provides residents with the opportunity to connect with nature."

"Credit Valley Conservation values the Alton Village Association and residents as stewardship partners supporting our watershed's native pollinators. The Butterflyway provides the quality habitat pollinators need to thrive and enhances the local ecosystem."

"The Alton Village Square Community Garden and Butterflyway project is a wonderful example of environmental stewardship. On behalf of Caledon Council I commend the Alton Village Association for its inspiration and efforts to create habitats for bees and butterflies in the community."
